SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Snow sports probably provide a lot of thrills and sport for thousands of fans, but unless caution is exercised they may prove extremely dangerous. This was evidenced here Sunday when a little Truckee girl was badly hurt when struck by a speeding toboggan. We believe snow sports, as a recreation are fine for those who enjoy them, but we would like to impress the tyro with the importance of using common sense and caution especially where others are concerned.

This ideal weather being enjoyed in the region makes one wish for a speedy return of the fishing season. And, thinking of the fishing season, the thought arises as to the possibility under our new regime to secure that much discussed and badly needed warden in this area. No doubt there are still those who are fishing regardless of the season anod without fear of detection. They take little chance as repeated requests from various and sundry agencies to aid us in getting a warden have been unavailing. There are a few promises along this line that are still in the unexpired time, but no encouraging word has reached us.

Already the influx of tourists to the Golden Gate Exposition which is to open Saturday are pasisng through Truckee. We have talked at length about making Truckee a mecca on the trip west or east. This talk has resulted in a certain number of plans being made, but nothing to our knowlege has been accomplished to provide our visitors with a happy rememberance of Truckee and make them return and tell their friends.

By the way, we wonder if anything will be done to have the old historic McGlashan relics returned to Truckee. We should keep on trying to reposses them even though our pleas fall on deaf ears. Sooner or later we may obtain the desired result, but indifference will certainly bring no results.

Sylvia Jean Dolley Victim Of Speeding Toboggan Last Sunday

RIGHT LEG CRUSHED

Girl Will Be In Cast For Months As Result Of Accident

Sylvia Jean Dolley, 9, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Bowers of Truckee, is in the Washoe General Hospital in Reno suffering from a severe fracture of her right leg between the knee and hip as the result of a toboggan accident on Winter Sports hill here Sunday.

Little Sylvia Jean, with a young companion were enjoying watching the scores of excursionists playing on the hill and did not see the speeding toboggan loaded with strangers bearing down upon her. Evidently blinded by the snow and wind which which was thrown up by their contrivance, those on the Toboggan failed to warn the child.

Narrowly missing her companion the loaded toboggan crashed into Sylvia Jean, throwing her several feet through the air.

The little victim's step-brother, Robert Bowers, who was nearby kept novices from moving the child until Frank Gaiennie, American Red Cross instructor in first aid, arrived and prepared the girl for the trip to the office of Dr. J. H. Bernard, who after seeing the seriousness of the injury, ordered the child removed at once to the hospital.

An operation was performed there Tuesday morning and the split bone set. Sylvia Jean will be in a cast for several months while the injury knits

Sylvia Jean's father, N. F. Dolley of Truckee, was in Reno Tuesday to visit his daughter. He also took her to the hospital in the Laity ambulance Sunday.

Body Of Man Found On Tracks Identified As Midas Prospector

Alta Residents Identify Body After Accident On Railroad

Positive identification of the body of a man found along the Southern Pacific tracks at Midas, west of Blue Canyon two weeks ago as that of Fred J. Fisher, 50, was made last Friday by Frank Murray, Alta store keeper, who had known Fisher for the past five years.

Fisher's unconsicous body was found along the tracks where he had evidentally been struck by a passing train during a heavy snow storm. He was brought to Truckee by the crew on a passenger train and expired here. There were no identification marks on the man and Deputy Coroner W. H. Laity had some difficulty in identifying the victim.

Murray said Fisher has been mining on the Midas trail to the American river for the past five years and although he was well known in the district, little was known of his past. An uncle, whose name was not known is believed to reside in Sacramento.

Local Man Honored For Work In Aiding Lincoln Highway

Dan D. Smith, Truckee businessman has just received a citation from Gael S. Hoag, secretary of the Lincoln Highway Association, expressing the appreciation of that organization for the work done by Smith in promoting the highway in this district.

Smith was notified that the Golden Gate International Exposition has set aside July 1—traditional date for the association meeting—as Lincoln Highway day. Smith is planning to attend as it will be the final meeting, the work of the organization having been completed with the finishing of the fine paved road linking the two oceans and this year joining two great fairs.

Hoag wrote in part:

"You have rendered a priceless service to your community and your nation. It was you who lifted America's transit out of the dark ages.

"Your organization has completed its task. Probably this is our valedictory. Please accept it as a token of our gratitude and join us July 1 in commemoration."

An article in the Saturday Evening Post this week, gives an illustrated history of the Lincoln Highway, the task of its erection and the great good that has resulted from its building.

Some idea of the changes brought about since the erection of the trans-continental road is shown in a report sent Smith by Hoag which says that in 1914 there was hardly a mile of pavement, as we know it today and now there are more than a million miles. Motor vehicle registeration increased from 1,711,339 to 29,705,220 during the same period and motor vehicle mileage increased one hundredfold—to the staggering figure of 178,555,000,000 miles in 1938.

America's total expenditure for motor vehicles and equipment was estimated at $750,000,000 in 1914. Last year, this item in the national budget reached $4,377,728,000.

Between these extremes lies an expenditure of about $30,000,000,000 on public roads. Spark plug for all this was the Lincoln Highway Association, a transcontinental organization of good roads enthusiasts who improved their district roads and built a careful structure of public opinion that brought America it superlative highway system.

Fire Destroys Cozzalio Home At Hirschdale

House, Furniture Completely Demolished As Fire Hits Dwelling

CAUSE WAS UNKNOWN

Volunteers Powerless To Aid In Saving Contents Of Building

The fine home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cozzalio at Hirschdale, seven miles east of Truckee, was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning shortly before noon. Members of the family escaped with only the clothing they were wearing and personal belongings, furniture and other contents of the structure burned.

The cause of the fire was not immediately learned but may have been from an overheated stove, according to witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cozzalio were at home at the time but the flames gained headway so rapidly they were unable to cope with them. Men at the quarantine station responded with extinguishers and Assistant Fire Chief Tony Pace and Firemen George Markell and Harry Balwin gave all possible assistance to little avail.

Only a small part of the $4,000 loss was covered by insurance.

BIRTHRIGHT OF PROGRESS

The clock moves forward today toward startling technological developments in many of America's leading industries.

In the timber, cotton, wool, dairy, paper, and silk industries the impact of new scientific progresses is now being foretold by economists and scientists. Rayon from wood pulp paper from slash pine, wool from skimmed milk, and a new hosiery material called nylon, made from coal, air and water, are all soon scheduled to leave the laboratories and make their bid for the support of the American public.

But first they will have to weather the natural storm of opposition which greets every new mode of production. Each advance of technology spells a temporary dislocation of the labor market. But when an adjustment has been achieved, it is generally found that the new process has produced far more jobs than ever it destroyed. As William Allen White recently pointed out, the linotype put more men to work in newspaper plants than the hand press ever did, or could. The horse and buggy trade and the blacksmith were dealt a hard blow when the motor car came along, but now the public demand for flexible, economic transportation is so great that singly, the motor carrier industry now gives direct employment to more than 3,000,000 men. Were it suddenly to cease functioning, scores of cities would find themselves completely without their supply of milk and farm produce, not to mention the millions it would make idle. Yet not many years ago the motor vehicle was considered only a fly-by-night novelty.

We cannot turn the clock back on economic and scientific progress. To do so would be to deny Man his birthright to make this a better and happier world in which to live.

THE GREAT MOUTHPIECE

....The party bore is a type we all know. He monopolizes the conversation, drowns out every voice but his own, and pretty soon there isn't any conversation—just a droning monologue.

The worst of it is that whole nations, cornered by One Party government, also find the voices of all their people drowned out. Under threat of penalty, they are required to listen to a perpetual and monotonous tirade flo rthe Party. In fact, one of the worst things about dictatorship must be its terrible dullness. Imagine having to listen worshipfully ,as the unfortunate Russians, Italians and Germans must, to one big Mouthpiece, year in and year out, and never being able to retort, "Sez you!" Americans couldn't, and wouldn't stand for it.

As a matter of fact, even the people under dictators are daring to express their boredom in other ways. What was more significant than Hitler's empty Reichstag speech, was that three more once-great German newspapers went to press for the last time last week .Ever since 1933 Germany's newspapers and newspaper readers have been rapidly disappearing, which is but natural. The only news printed, which is very little, and the only views tolerated are those which the One Party government orders. And One Party government, like one bore at a party, can make life terribly dull.

So dull, in fact, than even in Russia, Germany or Italy, it's doubtful if there breathes a man with a soul so dead he never to himself has said, "I'd like to tell that Big Mouthpiece, 'sez you!' " And maybe some day he will.

TREK TO THE NEW WEST

The great trek of '39 is on—dwarfing in size at least the dramatic rush for gold of 90 years ago! Lured in part by the romance lingering from the area of frontier days and the bearded pioneer, a vast army of Americans from Maine, Kansas, Georgia and all the other 47 states, together with a huge contingent from foreign lands, is under way in California.

The marvels of Treasure Island will enthall them and hold them spellbound. And the marvels of California, lavishly bestowed by nature and husbanded by Westerners, will make our visitors long to stay and live and work and prosper with the West.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.— (UP)— In any political entity as big as the state of California, there are bound to be certain inequalities or irregularities. That such things have been going on for the past four years is indicated by the increasing ramifications of the Alameda grand jury investigation into the affairs of Mark Lee Megladdery, Jr., former private secretary to Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

Megladdery was named by Merriam as superior court judge in Alameda county and was the subject of an immediate attack.

But Alameda county is not hogging the spotlight.

Sacramento contributed a few sidelights, particularly in the motor vehicle department. It all came about when Richard Olson, son of the governor, told newspapermen that a far reaching investigation was planned into all state departments. Speaking for his father, he said:

"The object of the administration is to clear up conditions we know have existed and which we are currently learning more and more about. We know that self respect of civil service employes and serious regard for the jobs they hold have been undermined by the careless, irresponsible manner in which many of the state departments have been operated. "Some of the heads of the state personnel board are hopefully looking toward the new administration to correct the situation. There will be a very definite change in policy. There has been a failure to enforce regulations, and in some instances the law. Special privileges have been accorded certain persons. This will be stopped."

With the policy cleared up, young Olson called on J. C. Toomey, chief accounting officer of the motor vehicle department, to explain some questions raised in the budgeting. It has been charged the department has an overmanned and oversystematized situation which will cause a deficit of $811,000 by December 1940 and more than $1,500,000 by the end of the biennium in 1941.

This situation was caused, Toomey said, because some $2,000,000 in reserve funds weer spent by Retiring Director Ray Ingels "Because I am not going to leave it for my successor." Toomey said he explained the money was not a surplus but represented money held in reserve to carry the department through the last half of 1938 when department income is low.

Toomey took occasion to point out that the state in lieu tax, which went into effect in 1936, had increased registration work 10 times but the department was only allowed three per cent of collections instead of six he requested to make the work self supporting.

M. D. Boyd, Toomey's assistant said the administration cost of the drivers license bureau had increased from $100,000 to $80,00 annually, whereas income was only $150,000.

The Megladdery case illustrated Toomey's contention that acceptance of personal checks for license plates and fees cost the state large sums in extra bookkeeping and litigation He said Megladdery took many low number applications last year but gave a "not sufficient funds" check for $292 on the last day before delinquent penalties come due. Megladdery finally made the check good Toomey said, but no penalties were paid because it might have embarrassed the governor.

Another instance was cited where Frank Reed, an administration assistant to Ingels, failed to credit more than $300 of license applications

Tahoe . . . . Ramblings . .

By Anne B. Anderson

Tahoe ski club members who are eligible for the Internationad jumping competition at Treasure Island next weekend and the following Wednesday are Sigurd Ulland, former national champion; Carl Bechdolt, Jr., outstanding intercolelgiate veteran; Albert M. Henry, Jr., one of the Tahoe club experts; James Worden, graceful slalom runner and winner of many places in competition during the past few years; David Renner, outstanding young competitor in the A class jumping, and Walter Mandeville, who excells in the A jumping also. It is expected that a large party of ski club members will accompany the boys to the fair.

The Tahoe club members who competed at the downmountain and slalom meet at Cisco in the international events last week end surely gave good accounts of themselves. Carl Bechdolt, Jr., won second place in the slalom, James Worden got fourth place and Albert Henry, Jr. was tenth in the downmountain on Saturday.

Special busses were run over the weekend from Truckee to Tahoe to accomodate the hundreds of winter sports fans who were taking advantage of the glorious weather at the lake and the fine new ski hill and ski tow of the Lake Tahoe Ski club.

The highways around the lake are in fine condition—a good two-lane broad highway extending south to Emerald Bay and north to the state line.

At the State Capitol

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN, THURMAN

(by Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman)

Your assemblyman has felt for some time that the employment of both man and wife byt the state or any political subdivision is adding to our relief and tax problems. As a result I may introduce at the second half of the legislative session a bill to prevent both man and wife from being employed by the state. Our bill will not be as drastic as the one which was recently passed in the state of Utah inasmuch as we would set the salary figure at about $1500 a month. If husband or wife are employed by the state or any of its subdivisions at such a salary, then the other member of the afmily can not be employed by the state in any manner. Such a bill may not prove popular, inasmuch as a bill somewhat similar failed to get out of committee two years ago. However, we feel that the employment of both husband and wife by the state is wrong, not only in principle, but in practice as well.

We have opposed nepotism in all branches of our government for many years in the colums of our newspaper and have gradually seen the practice disappear in our own county. However, the practice appears to be strongly entrenched in our state government.

Now we are not opposed to both husband and wife working if they find that they must work to make ends meet. We know that there are extenuating circumstances and we desire to place no obstacle in the way of man and wife who feel that they must work to keep the wolf from the door, but we are opposed to the wife who works so that she can have some of the extra luxuries that many other wives are denied.

We are continually graduating our boys and girls from our colleges and the cost of their education is a heavy burden on you and I and every taxpayer. Are we going to force these college graduates on relief because some wife, whose husband is quite able to support her, wants to work, thereby adding to our relief problem and tax burden as well?

The relief problem, as we have mentioned heerin on several occasions is one of the biggest problems we as taxpayers have to face. Your representative recently voted, along with other legislators, a sum of nearly $20,000,000 to take care of the sate's relief problem until June 30 of this year. Now we have been informed that the amount we appropriated may fall about $6,000,000 short and as a result we may be asked to vote additional funds required. Your representative is not against voting funds which are absolutely necessary for relief, but the taxpayers as well as the unemployed are entitled to some relief and the creation of new departments in the administration of relief, with the employment of married women at fancy salaries, we feel is not in the interests of relief either for the unemployed or the taxpayer.

The writer's ire was somewhat aroused last week when we learned that a new department had been created in the state relief administration with a married woman being assigned to a responsible positon in the new department at a salary of approximately $3600 a year.

As a result of newspaper publicity we received when we protested this action with the statement that we would introduce a bill against nepotism, we have received numerous letters from all over the state in support of such a law. Many of these letters came from married women while others came from single women who were unable to secure employment because so many married women were holding positions.

From one letter we quote briefly:

"A very worthy move and one I hertily endorse with all my heart. I would that you could go even stronger and introduce a bill that would stop married women from working whose husbands are earning $125 per month. It is my firm belief that the unemployment problem would be a much less problem if such were done. But the bill you are introducing is a step in the right direction and I hope and pray to see the day such tactics are abolished."

The above letter came from a married woman who resides in Dunnigan.

In closing this week's column the writer desires to than kthe many readers of this newspaper who have written us regarding legislative matters. We have received communications from all parts of our district as the result of these weekly letters and desire to thank the editor of The Sierra Sun for granting us this space to present to the people of this district legislative matters of interest to the state and district. As a result of this cooperation on the part of the newspapers we feel that we are going to be able to serve the people of the district much more efficiently than we could otherwise serve them.

Capitol Week

(by NEWTON STEARNS)
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.— (UP)— Organization of state governmental activities in line with the policies of the new Democratic administration proceeded slowly during the week due to the absence from his office of Gov. Culbert L. Olson.

The chief executive, recovering from nervous exhaustion which followed the strenuous first week of his term, including the many ceremonies connected with the inauguration and the pardon of Thomas J. Mooney, left his bed for the first time since Jan. 7 and was able to walk around the house and take short automobile trips.

Several routine meetings of governmental boards and commissions were held during the week. Outstanding was the session of the governor's council, at which Phil Gibson, state finance director, representing the governor, announced plans to end the use of state owned automobiles for private purposes. Gibson said he was astounded by the large sums spent by state workers for travel and announced henceforth a policy of economy in this respect would be strictly observed.

From his sickbed at the governor's mansion, Olson signed several bills passed as emergency measures before the legislature adjourned for its constitutional recess. Included in the legislation weer bills to cut red tape in the payment of unemployment compensation whereby the waiting period of involuntary unemployed was reduced from four to two weeks while those idle through voluntary action will wait but four weeks instead of eight for their checks. Other measures extend the tax moratorium preventing sale of delinquent property until August 20 this year and reenact the law whereby tax-delinquent property may, until April 20 1940, b ebrought under the 10-year installment plan of tax payments.

Further increase in the state's relief costs was predicted by H. Dewey Anderson, new SRA administrator following the action of congress in reducing WPA appropriations by $150,000,000. Anderson said California's expenditures for this purpose between now and July 1 this year would total $25,750,000, or $6,000,000 more than the $19,975,000 appropriated to cover to deficiency at the January sesison of the legislature. Dropping the workers from WPA rolls, Anderson pointed out, would add approximately 6,000 persons to the state relief lists monthly. He said 705,000 persons in the state now were dependent upon WPA or SRA, 135,000 more than were listed a year ago.

Reorganizaton of the state commissions continued with the appointment by Governor of Edward R. Young, Los Angeles county attorney, to head the California Racing board, and Claude I. Parker, Los Angeles rancher as a member of the same board. Young succeeds J. Carelton Burke while Parker replaces Samuel M. Haskins.

TONS OF METAL ARE USED IN PRINTING PROPOSED LAWS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.— (UP)— More than 40 tons of metal type weer piled up in the state printing department today as printers fininshed setting type for 11,136 pages of legislative bills that poured in during the first two weeks of the 1939 session.

The metal type, which must be kept until the new statutes are printed, represens an investment of $8,505 for the metal alone. Payrolls for composition, printing and press work amounted to approximately $50,000 a week, twice the normal weekly payroll.

The printing department reported handling 7,320 more pages of legislation this session than two years ago There are 50 lines of type in each of the 11,136 pages, and each page of metal weighs seven and a half pounds.

until a friend of Chief Raymond E Cato of the highway patrol was arrested for having old plates and started an investigation. Reed paid up the money and resigned from his position, Toomey said.

Young Olson said it would be the future policy to acecpt only certified or cashier's checks to avoid fictitious personal ones, and that the department will proceed with criminal prosecution if a deliberate violation of the law is discovered.

Other departments will come under official scrutiny and both good and bad findings can be expected. Full publicity has been promised in either event and a healthy airing of the civil service system is apt to be one of the beneficial results.

REDUCTIONS IN STATE INCOME SEEN IF BILLS ARE PASSED

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 16.— (UP)— California's annual income of approximately $85,000,000 from the state retail sales tax would be reduced by $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 under exemptions proposed in bills before the legislature, according to estimates of capitol officials.

Outstanding in the list of articles on which the tax would be removed if the measures become law were food and liquor levies whcih now bring the state approximately $11,500,000 annually. Under the proposals no sales tax would be imposed on food furnished, prepared, served or sold for consumption on the premises of the retailer. The sales tax also would be removed from liquor which already is taxed under the alcoholic beverage control act.

Additional large sums would be lost to the state if bills to exempt medicines and medical supplies are passed, it was pointed out. While no estmoates of the income from this source were available, the revenue was believed to be well up in the higher brackets. Specifically, the proposals would remove the tax from gross sale of 'All medicines and preparations recognized in the United States Pharmacopoeia or National Formulary for internal or external use and any substance or mixture of substances intended to be used for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease of man.'

Other exemptions provided in the bills include the following:

Livestock for breeding purposes baby chicken, hatching eggs and all agricultural and horticultural sprays

Gross receipts from the distribution of copies of weekly or semi-weekly newspapers, 'insofar as such copies are given away rather than sold.'

Revenue derived from the sale of American flags and the Holy Bible.

"Read 'Em and Reap" OUR ADS

Newness

IN AN old autograph album were found these words, penned long ago, but still ringing with hope and serving to arouse one to new efforts and achievements.

"Every day is a fresh beginning,
Every morn is the world made new."

Words are worth only the thoughts they convey, and few carry more inspiration than does the word "newness." . . .

In the history of the children of Israel, as recorded in the Bible, we read that they were admonished to cleanse the altar after making sacrifice and to sanctify it for the new day. Would this not indicate the need for us to begin each day afresh, to leave behind, to clean away, the shadows, discouragements, and disappointments of yesterday and begin anew, fortified by new consecration, new vision, fresh aspiration?

Jesus said (John 13:34), "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you." The old standard of "thou shalt not" was to be supplemented with a larger, a newer standard of a positive rather than a negative nature. Proportionately as this new commandment is put into practice the nature of the individual is changed, a new view of man's relationship to God is gained, and his whole existence takes on new life and beauty. "God requireth that which is past" (Ecclesiastes 3:15). Only today is ours with its infinite possibilities.

Paul wrote (Ephesians 4:22-24), "Put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind; and . . . put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness." . . .

The human mind has a tendency to look backward and to grieve over past mistakes; to spend much precious time in regretting its failure to use the opportunities presented and its unwise and unloving actions. Jesus once admonished his hearers to remember Lot's wife. The record does not say that she started to go back; she merely looked back, and her punishment was swift.

To ignore evil neither corrects nor destroys it; but when a wrong is recognized as error, and an honest effort is made to correct it, wisdom bids us turn from it with a firm determination to avoid its repetition, and to lift thought to higher levels. Mary Baker Eddy says in "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 195), "To do good to all because we love all, and to use in God's service the one talent that we all have, is our only means of adding to that talent and the best way to silence a deep discontent with our shortcomings."

Each day should be for us as a clean white page. No one can write upon it but ourselves. Shall it be marred by thoughtlessness, selfishness, discouragement, or regret? Or, shall it be illumined by the consciousness of well-doing, tender compassion, sweetness, and unselfed love? It lies within ourselves what shall be written on that page.

No one who is self-centered grows in happiness or usefulness. Self-love clouds his vision, limits his viewpoint, and leads to stagnation. Forgetfulness of human self in an increased understanding of one's spiritual selfhood, however, brings a broadening, deepening, and enriching of character, opening up for him new and greater ways for service and thereby blessing himself as well as others. Vain regrets are worse than useless. Today is ours, with its infinite opportunities, and we can best redeem the past by filling each moment with thoughts and acts which will bear good fruit. . . .

As one begins to recognize and claim his true birthright as a son and heir of God, there dawn upon his consciousness possibilities of which he had never dreamed, and in this dawning is found a new day which spreads its beams until it develops into the full glory of the noonday sun. . . . —The Christian Science Monitor.
